VOLUME LXVI—NUMBER 8

Established June 5, 1895

BETHEL, MAINE, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1960

$3.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE Single Copy—SEVEN CENTS

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The following amounts of surplus food were distributed during 1959: Butter, 1125 lbs.; Cheese, 180 lbs.; Milk, 4273 lbs.; Flour, 8260 lbs.; Corn Meal, 2755 lbs.; Dried Eggs, 267 lbs.; Rice, 1583 lbs.; and Lard, 288 lbs. Both cheese and butter have been removed from the surplus commodities program, with lard being added in December. The total distribution for the year was 18,731 lbs., costing $276.26 or approximately 1 1/2 cents per lb.

The 1952 Caterpillar tractor and snowplow was sold last week to Charles Hibbard for $500 cash. This piece of equipment was old, obsolete, and expensive to operate. It was a good piece of equipment in its day and has done a lot of work, but has outlived its usefulness due to changing methods of snow removal.

In the fall of 1957 a power steering unit was purchased for the Cat Grader. On two different occasions servicemen from the Houghton-Arnold Co. have tried to get it in operating condition, but the results have been unsatisfactory. As this unit cost $350.00 and was guaranteed by the factory it was of the opinion that something should be done by the manufacturer, by either repairing or replacing the unit. After considerable discussion with the Houghton-Arnold Co. and they in turn with the manufacturer a new unit has been secured and last week the grader was in Portland to have it installed, and to have repairs on the front end. In fact the storm of last Friday caught us with the grader still in Portland. A report will be given in the near future how the new unit works, which the company is furnishing without any charge.

Your attention is called to an ad in this issue relative to filling an application for the position of Night Officer.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

she and on Nov. 15, 1909 was married to Earl L. Farrington. He died Dec. 27, 1925. She was a member of Jefferson Chapter, OES, and the Union Church.

Skiway Lifts Operate at Capacity on Holiday

Traditionally Washington's Birthday is the skiers' big week end, with the result that they have come to expect the inevitable: a lift line stretching as far as the eye can see and waits of as long as an hour. Skiers at Sunday River Skiway this past week end, therefore, were pleasantly surprised by the way the 1,000 skiers per hour capacity T-bar chewed up the line and were overjoyed that they could spend their time skiing in the new powder snow rather than shuffling along in line.

Until this past week end, Sunday River's longest wait had been 8 minutes. On this past Sunday it bulged momentarily to a new record of 12 minutes. On Washington's Birthday no one waited more than 6 minutes. This pleasant statistic, combined with the excellent skiing, of course resulted in more skiers vowing, "I shall return to Sunday River!"

GOULD WINTER CARNIVAL FRI-SAT, MARCH 4 AND 5

This year the annual Gould Academy winter carnival will be held March 4 and 5 on the school's campus and at Sunday River Skiway.

The carnival beginning on Friday afternoon will consist of interclass competition in skiing, sculpturing, hockey and ticket selling. Putting the finishing touches on the day's activities will be the coronation of the queen.

The following day the invitational meet will be held at the Sunday River Skiway. Awards will be presented immediately following the competition.

The week end will be brought to a close by Arctic Antics, the theme of the Carnival Ball.

MRS. MABEL S. ROBERTSON

Mrs. Mabel Scribner Robertson, a former resident of Bethel, died Friday at Kittanning, Pa.

She was born at Jefferson, N. H., Aug. 8, 1880, the daughter of Ebenezer and Matilda Tyler Scribner. She had resided in Bethel most of her life until moving two years ago to Pennsylvania.

She was a member of Purity Chapter O.E.S., and the West Parish Congregational Church. She is survived by two sons, Dr. F. O'Neill Robertson, Ford City, Pa., and Edward Robertson, Bethel; a sister, Mrs. Estella Goodridge, Gilead; and six grandchildren.

Another member of a swiftly passing era in the life of our community has gone to her reward.

And now her work is done. Her course on earth is run. May it be said, "Well done, be thou at peace."

Mrs. Robertson was a family and highly esteemed resident of Main Street for more than 40 years. Her girlhood was spent in West Bethel. She married the late Frank O. Robertson and moved to the historic Sylvester Robertson house in this village. Here she made a friendly and cheerful home, frequented by young and old.

Failing health compelled her to sell the property a few years ago and make her home with her son in Pennsylvania. Her love of her former town and neighbors grew stronger in spite of many separating miles.

As a young woman she identified herself with school and church and community projects. With her strong and dependable shoulder at the wheel of any function, success was assured.

Her devoted sons were the light of her life. Their training, interests, hobbies and achievements made for her a complete and happy existence. Through her serene example and faith we learn that living for thee and for others is a long way from living for self and the world.

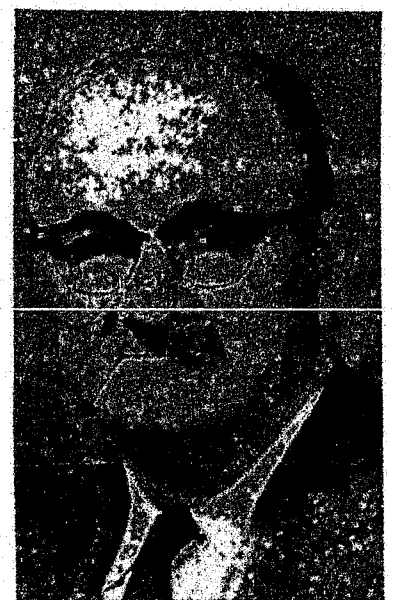

The arrival of about a foot and a half of heavy snow, accompanied by wind, rendered some roads impassable Friday.

County Fairs 2nd, 3rd in State Stipend List

State stipend checks, representing the largest stipend payments ever made to agricultural fairs in Maine, were mailed this week.

Checks totalling a record $188,543.90 went to 25 fairs which qualified for the stipend during the 1959 season. Of this amount, $112,668.12 represented the regular stipend paid to all fairs which last year reported a record premium expenditure of $172,025.22, and $78,875.78 which was distributed to the 11 fairs operating pari-mutuel harness racing, for improvements to plant facilities during the 1959 season.

Skowhegan State Fair received the largest regular stipend payment, $13,281.28, to apply against a record $20,278.30 paid in premiums. This is the first year that any Maine fair has paid premiums amounting to more than $20,000.00.

Second largest payment went to West Oxford Agricultural Society which runs Fryeburg Fair. It is getting $10,831.05 against $16,537.20 in premiums.

Oxford County Agricultural Society was third in the list, receiving $8,552.38. All three fairs also received the facilities improvement stipend of $6,983.99.

The State Stipend Fund is derived from a percentage of horse racing bets and a state appropriation of two cents per inhabitant of the state. It is divided among the fairs in proportion to the amounts they paid last year in prizes for farm and homemaking exhibits.

How To Cope With 300,000 Obstacles

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

WHAT A JOY vacationing will be this summer! Nearly 9,000 miles of super highways will cover the country from coast to coast, enabling us to drive anywhere we want on that long-anticipated holiday trip.

These toll turnpikes and free expressways will make it easier, more fun and faster for us to travel. However, we will have to be alert to 300,000 obstacles which will make this the year of the detour.

These unexpected hazards will be 300,000 men at work on the miles and miles of new roads. We can expect to find heavy construction in every state.

To make traveling more pleasant, road-builders offer these tips on driving through construction areas:

- Slow down.
- Keep your eyes on the road.
- Follow warning signs.
- Heed the flagmen.
- Give way to heavy equipment.

Hazen Lowell remains about guest of his parents on the same week end returning to Everett, Mass., Monday.

DRIVERS MUST ACCEPT TRAFFIC RESPONSIBILITY

"There can be no hope for a consistent reduction in traffic accidents until drivers accept their responsibilities in traffic," the Maine Highway Safety Committee emphasizes.

The Committee pointed to two things which characterize the conscientious driver who makes an honest effort to accept his responsibilities behind the wheel — a desire to know and to comply with traffic laws voluntarily, and the habit of doing everything possible to compensate for the unsafe acts of others — drivers or pedestrians.

"This is what is often referred to as 'defensive driving'," continued the Committee. Many accidents could be avoided if drivers would keep a sharp, constant lookout for the mistakes of others. In this way, they would become aware of dangerous situations in time to avoid trouble, in case the other motorist or walker is guilty of a traffic mistake."

The safety organization listed the following driving errors as among those most likely to cause trouble:

Failure to observe a stop sign.
Making a left-hand turn from a right-hand lane.
Failure to signal a turn.
Stopping suddenly.
Trying to pass on a curve or in a no-passing zone.
Swerving suddenly over the center line.
Pulling out from the curb into traffic — without warning.
Weaving dangerously through traffic.

"Accepting our responsibility means that we must avoid these and other errors, and that we must be alert for those who fail to do so," concluded the committee. "Good example is a powerful force. As more and more drivers accept their responsibilities and abide by the rules, a greater number will be influenced to do likewise. Each of us can contribute toward safety with our good example and influence."

Read I John 3:11-11

This is the message that ye heard from the beginning, that we should love one another. (I John 3:11.)

TRADITION gives us this story about one of the early saints. As he walked along the streets of his city, a beggar lifted his hands to him and asked for charity. The saint replied, "My brother, I regret that I have no coin to offer you."

Whereupon the beggar, with tear-filled eyes said, "But you have just given me the greatest gift you could have bestowed upon me. You called me Brother."

What a glorious day it will be for this old war-weary world when we shall learn to look upon our fellow man in his hunger, suffering, frustration, and rejection, and, in answer to his outstretched hands and pleading eyes, say, "My Brother!"

Curious of race, creed, religion, position, and ideology will then crumble into rubble. We will push it aside to make room for the foundation of the bright new world of tomorrow.

PRAYER: Father, I remember the question Cain asked of Thee, "Am I my brother's keeper?" When I am tempted to ask the same question, may the answer be so obvious as to shame me. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Thought for the Day
Because as a Christian I believe in God as Father, I think of all persons as my brothers.
Rufus F. Borrells, (Arkansas)

The Lisbon Falls, Me., Weekly News: One of the most disturbing developments in American life is the ever-increasing trend toward conformity. Too often these days a person is held suspect if he dares to do things differently.... The point is that individualism often brings us great gains and the individualists of our country have pioneered more success and progress than the conformists. For the conformist basically is either afraid to go his own way or lacks the imagination or intelligence which allows him to be different.

The Waseca, Minn., Journal: Voters in Great Britain made the pollsters look pretty foolish.... The Conservatives nearly doubled their majority in Parliament. This was quite an achievement in an election which was supposed to be close. Of greatest interest was the interpretation placed on the election by some that it was a repudiation of socialism. Prime Minister Macmillan has demonstrated that a retreat from socialism is not only possible, but it gets public support.

Lockney (Tex.) Beacon: Labor Boss David McDonald says that steel workers should have a three months' paid vacation every 5 years in order to teach the workers how to relax after they retire from active work. If a man working a 40-hour week can't learn how to relax we don't see how a three-month paid vacation will do the job. On a 40-hour week, a man has eight hours for relaxing, allowing eight for work and eight for sleep, then two days a week he has the whole 24 hours to do as he pleases. We are among the millions of people who would like to be able to make a living on a 40-hour week.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

LIVERY STABLE

There was something flavorful and fragrant about an old-time small-town livery stable that set it apart. In days when drummers came by train with bulky boxes of samples and hired a team to travel to surrounding villages, a livery stable was a part of the town's socio-economic order.

A 12-year-old lad liked to spend time in the big barn behind the town hotel. There was a pungent, satisfying smell compounded of leather, hay and horse. It was good to sit in the calendar-lined office with its pot-bellied stove, and to listen to men tell tall stories. A lad who kept his ears open could usually gather information to take home. It might be that the pretty school teacher was out sleigh riding with that handsome drummer from the city and didn't get in until 10 o'clock, or perhaps Ted Adams had decided to run again for road agent.

The livery man met the train and carried the mail to and from the post office in the General Store. He drove the pair of black roadsters when the last call came for a resident; he furnished rigs in warm weather for summer boarders who wanted a ride through the countryside.

The old livery stable was more than a commercial institution. Retired farmers made it headquarters. In stormy weather farmers came to town and dickered for horses with the owner. It was a forum where free citizens met and exchanged views on politics, conditions of the roads and whether the new-fangled, snorting, horseless carriages would ever amount to anything.

The old livery stables are gone. Time marches on and men drive metal machines with portable watering troughs beneath the hoods. But in cities and towns today there are men who look back and remember the time when a visit to the livery stable was a pleasant part of country living.

The men who are really busy have the most leisure for everything.—James Payn

MAN'S RECIPE

BLANCHE'S CHOCOLATE BREAD PUDDING

Something has to be done about the thrift habits at Sunny Acres. Don't misunderstand me. I am definitely in favor of thrift, but if a man's wife is an enthusiastic box saver, it generates problems.

Personally I save string, for I have need for it around our 10 acre village farm. You can save a lot of string in a small space. Boxes are different. But Blanche says she needs them. However, after the utility room, garage, barn and attic are full, what happens? Should I build a lean-to onto the barn?

Today's recipe is Grade A with me, and if you try it, I will be glad to hear what you think of it. There are dozens of bread pudding recipes, but I think this is unusually flavorful.

Use one half cup cocoa or three squares of chocolate, one cup sugar, four cups scalded milk, two cups bread cubes, one half cup raisins, two tablespoons butter or margarine, one half teaspoon vanilla.

Mix cocoa and sugar together. (If chocolate is used, melt in the milk). Add the milk and bring to boiling point. Put in the bread and raisins; add vanilla and butter.

Pour whole mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake at 350 for about one hour. Blanche makes a hard sauce to go with this of one fourth cup butter or margarine, to which she adds three fourths cup confectioners sugar and one half teaspoon vanilla. She creams the butter first, adds the other things and then creams again. Give me a cereal dish of this pudding and plenty of the hard sauce, and it is always a salubrious ending for a meal.

BUSINESSES REMINDED OF FEB. 29 TAX DEADLINE

A tax return due date reminder for Augusta District businesses has been issued by Whitney L. Wheeler, District Director of Internal Revenue.

Mr. Wheeler said February 29 is the date by which all businesses must file annual information returns showing payments made during 1959 of salaries, wages, fees, commissions, and other compensation for personal services totaling $600 or more.

Payments of interest, rents, royalties, annuities, pensions, and other income must be reported, he said, as well as dividends of $10 or more.

However, compensation already reported on Forms W-2 are not included on these information returns.

Director Wheeler said files of information returns should use Forms 1959 and 1960.

He said, February 29 is also the deadline for manufacturers, retailers and others liable for more than $100 in excise taxes for the month of January to deposit the taxes in a depository. Those making deposits of excise taxes should use Form 537.

From Nagasaki To The Seven Seas

The 46,000-ton "Virginia Getty," built for an American oil company, sails on her maiden voyage from the Nagasaki yards of the Mitsubishi Shipbuilding and Engineering Corp. Japan's shipbuilding industry has now attained world leadership, and is one of her leading dollar earners through exports to the United States, Greece and other maritime nations. During 1958, steel ship construction amounted to 2,212,848 gross tons, of which 1,167,494 gross tons were for foreign accounts. The steel, machinery and other components of tankers and freighters represent sizable imports from the United States, exemplifying the two-way nature of foreign trade.

YOUR HELP CAN COME BACK
A HUNDRED TIMES OVER

If enough of us help, the S. S. Hope will be launched in 1960. Support of call: Indonesia. A bold health project called Hope will be underway.

The need for Hope, and your help in it, is obvious. Too many people robbed of the will to live and work. Too few hands to help. Often, there may be one doctor for 100,000.

Hope's approach is most practical. It is a team's doctors and help. Then help them help themselves to health. By training, upgrade their skills, multiply their hands. Hope's doctors, dentists, nurses and technicians will man a center complete to 300-bed medical unit, portable TV. With Hope, you can not only make every dollar do the work of many, you can earn a precious dividend. With health comes self-respect. Men or nations who are at peace with themselves are less likely to war with others.

Hope is going to give it a people-to-people project. For one year's worth, 100 million Americans must give a dollar. Please make it more if you can.

The State Police tell us that it is a mighty good idea not to pull up too close to the lowered gates or the signal lights at a highway-rail intersection. Such places are likely to be worn very smooth and slippery, and it is entirely possible that the car behind you may be unable to stop in time to avoid bumping you and pushing you into the path of an oncoming train. Leave that extra margin of safety between your car and the tracks.

AIRLINE STOCKS

A Depressed Group Offering Some Interesting Values
Over the last few months airline stocks have been especially poor market performers. There are several reasons:

In the first place, obsolescence of equipment has imposed serious strains on airlines finances. Introduction of new equipment has been costly with high break-in costs for new turbo-prop and jet planes. Operating costs have risen sharply without compensating increases in fares being allowed by the C.A.B.

More recently, prior to the end of the year, airline stocks were subjected to heavy tax selling. Even still more recently, a rash of commercial airline accidents have dampened investor enthusiasm for this group.

There is still some bad news to come out as first quarter earnings for 1960 and in some cases later earnings reports will be disappointing. These are primarily due to the high cost of transition from conventional airplanes to turbo-prop and turbo-jets. With these poor earnings reports, however, the final wave of bad news should have come out and prospects might be somewhat brighter in the future.

The market place is now well aware of the difficulties that have been facing the airlines and the writer feels that the prices of these stocks have discounted most of these difficulties. On the other hand, there are some favorable aspects ahead and even in the last few days airline stocks have started to anticipate this. The new jet and turbo-prop planes are attracting more passenger traffic as they cut flying time between cities and consequently load factors are increasing which could lead to wider profit margins in the future.

spite of higher operating costs. The C.A.B. is taking a more favorable view toward higher fares, especially for overseas passenger traffic and for jet planes.

President Eisenhower recently indicated that a large amount of military business now given the Military Air Transport Service might be transferred to commercial airlines while at the same time arrangements might be made so that defense and industry would participate jointly in developing long range turbine-power cargo aircraft. Both airline passenger traffic and cargo traffic are increasing.

The principal threat at the present time is that airlines will over-expand their equipment in 1960 and as a result load factor percentages would drop sharply.

Airlines which have been earliest in obtaining the new turbo-prop and jet planes obviously have the advantage as more of their break-in costs have been written off and it is these which we favor.

Airline stocks are not yet sufficiently seasoned to qualify for more conservative investment portfolios, but for the investor with well diversified holdings willing to assume a businessman's risk, the writer feels that this group has unusually good opportunities for substantial capital appreciation over the next six months or longer. His favorites in order are: American Airlines, Pan American Airways, Eastern Airlines and Delta Airlines.

MAGAZINE ISSUES

WARNING ON PHONY PRICE TAGS

Abundance of Dollars
Spurs Competition
The hot competition for the consumer dollar has made shopping around worthwhile, but it also has spurred phony price practices, according to the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.

An article in the current edition of the magazine advises consumers to take advantage of the bargains created by competition, but warns against misleading price tags.

Quoting the Federal Trade Commission, the editors list two widely-used price practices to guard against:

Preticketing: The manufacturer tags goods at an inflated price, and to fix it firmly in the customer's mind advertises it widely on TV or in national magazines. Then when the dealer offers a much lower price it looks like a bargain.

Another form of preticketing occurs when the dealer himself attaches an inflated price tag without the manufacturer's connivance. He will compare his low price, not with the manufacturer's list, but with some vague standard. "Originally priced at," "made to sell for," "suggested price," "value" and so on.

The phony double price tag has spread into virtually every merchandise field, the editors note, but it probably is worst in sales of watches and jewelry, mattresses, small appliances, TV sets, furs, furniture and other household goods.

Two-for-one sale: This is a variation of the double price tag. So is the "one-cent sale" that offers a second item for a penny when the regular price is paid for the first.

The catch may be that the retailer is using the inflated list price as the "regular" price during the sale, even though he usually sells the item below list so the price isn't the bar.

gain it seems.

To make dollars really go further, the editors advise the following shopping practices:

Ignore the higher price on a double price tag. Phony comparisons are so common that all drastic cuts can be suspect, even though some of them might be honest ones.

Judge value by the actual selling price. The test of value is not what the article used to cost, or what a retailer claims is its worth, but how much it costs today as compared with the same or similar articles at other stores.

Stick to name-brand goods. An unfamiliar brand might be a good buy, but if the price looks suspicious take another look.

Be extra careful at a discount house. These innovations in the retail merchandising world have done much to bring about price competition, it is true, but to be on the safe side

There are some 12-thousand deaths from accidents on farms in the United States each year. The only way to stop this tragic toll is to think safety, talk safety, and most important, practice safety 365 days of the year. "CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS
MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation."

—Karl Ludelgen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and is extremely quick. . . This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros."

—Tom McCall, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics was the feeling of roominess inside. . . I didn't know the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater in the Corvair than in some standard size cars. . ."

—L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked . . . it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is into a rear one."

—Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

"There is none of the typical whine normally associated with rear-engined vehicles. Inside the car, the effect is quite unlike anything we have ever experienced. It almost seems that there is no engine, and the general effect is so quiet as to be almost uncanny."

—John R. Bond, Road & Track

"No written word can suffice for the genuine pleasure that you will receive behind the wheel of America's newest and most advanced contribution to transportation. . . It is a great car."

—Don Stewart, Motor Life

1960 CENSUS APPOINTED

Appointments of crew leaders for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing in this area have been announced by Supervisor Edward I. Brewster of the Census Bureau's temporary district office in Portland.

Each crew leader will supervise about 20 enumerators in the big nationwide census which begins April 1. Crew leader training will begin on March 9 for rural leaders. Topics to be covered in the training sessions include procedures for recruiting of census takers, how to train their census takers, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and supervision of census takers to insure a complete and accurate count.

The crew leader is one of the key people in the field operation of the 1960 Census of Population and Housing. It is his responsibility to train the census takers, plan and allocate work assignments, review the work of the census takers and take remedial action where necessary, and to handle problems.

SICKNESS AND DISABILITY BENEFITS

Special Federal income tax rules apply to amounts received as compensation for sickness or disability. Whitney L. Wheeler, Director of Internal Revenue for Augusta District, reminds taxpayers.

He said any of the following payments which are received on account of illness or personal injury should not be reported on a Federal income tax return:

Payments in settlement of a claim, payments under Workers' Compensation Acts, and payments under an accident or health policy on which the taxpayer pays the premiums.

Also payments on account of a taxpayer's contribution to an accident or health plan jointly financed by him and his employer.

Also payments under an employer financed plan for sickness or injury to the taxpayer or his dependents if received as reimbursement for medical care or a compensation for the permanent loss or loss of use of a member or function of the body or for permanent disfigurement.

And pensions or annuities to an individual for injury or sickness resulting from active service in the armed forces of any country or in the Coast and Geodetic Survey or the Public Health Service, or payments to the beneficiaries by reason of the death of such individual.

Mr. Wheeler said the law also allows a taxpayer to exclude from income amounts received as wages or in place of wages under a wage continuation plan financed by his employer when he is absent from his job due to injury or sickness.

You must attach a statement to your return showing your computation of the amount excluded, and listing the dates of absence, the nature of your injury or sickness, and whether or not you were hospitalized. Form 2440 may be obtained
